Terrible Railroad Accident in Georgia. ATLANTA, December 15th.—One of the nost terrible railroad accidents ever known Georgia occurred at midnight, fifteen miles from this city, on the Georgia Pacific road. The East Tennessee and Georgia Pacific road use the same track to Anstell, and last night the Georgia Pacific mixed Barnes finished his first 1,000 ems in 2 train, with a coach and one sleeper, stopped at the tank for water. The coach and sleeper were on the trestle thirty feet high. 3 o'clock, when time was called, McCar The East Tennessee passenger, going at a speed of thirty miles per hour, struck the sleeper, and went half way through it. ATLANTA, December 15th .- A frightful and fatal collision occurred this morning, shortly after midnight, on the Georgia Pacific Railroad, about fifteen miles from Atlanta, in which eleven lives were lost and three persons so badly injured that it is thought death will result. The circumstances of the wreck are as follows: The roads use the same track from Atlanta to Anstell, where they diverge, one going west and the other north. They, however, leave from different depots, and meet just the same track. Just one mile east of An ll, towards Atlanta, is a water-tank, used by the Georgia Pacific. The night-passen-ger train of the Georgia Pacific leaves here at 10 o'clock, and the East Tennessee train leaves at 10:45 o'clock. Last night, how-ever, the Georgia Pacific was somewhat delayed, and when it stopped at the tank was on the East Tennessee's time. The East Tennessee passenger train came flying around the curve, and

WITHOUT A MOMENT'S WARNING Went crashing into the rear of the Georgia Pacific train. Engineer Owen and the fire-man of the East Tennessee train saw the Georgia Pacific train, but too late to avoid the collision. The fireman jumped from the engine, but the engineer remained at is post, reversing the engine and apply-ing the brakes, but was unable to avert the ollision. The engine tore its way into the ear coach, and the rear coach telescoped ne one in front, which was forced into the one ahead. The rear coach was filled with stir, and the escaping steam caused the death of five or six. The cries of the injured rent the air. All was darkness, and the statements of those who hastened to the scene are to the who hastened to the scene are to the effect that words cannot describe the effect that words cannot describe the hear the tomb. the Fifth Avenue yesterday, and increased his offense by taking his wife with him. He said yesterday that he should pay no attention whatever to the threat of the Union. Nearly every mail brings a new grist of circulars from the boycotters. No name is signed to the circular, which is prepared in a printed form, and has the name of the Central Labor Union at the bottom. Ex-Governor Foster, of Ohio, found a circular in his mail yesterday morning, and promptly consigned it to the waste-basket. "No one but a demagogue," be said, "would pay any attention to such stuff." The only man the circular is reported to have affected is General Butler. He received the notice just as he was leaving the hotel, a short time ago. The clerk at the hotel said to-day that the General had not returned here since. Ben Butler's position as a professed champion of labor and Labor Unions has aroused some curi osity as to how he will treat this edict. Where he stops when he next comes to New York will be watched with interest.

Another Elopement Sensation. New York, December 15th—A. The man is Elihu D. Smith, a blacksmith, and a deacon in the dethodist Church. The women are Mrs Edwin Lorrow, wife of a miller, and Miss Adeline Sheric, sometimes known as Mr. Barton, who lived with the Lorrow. Th eloping party left on Saturday, and are supposed to have gone to Canada. Deacon Smith had raised all the money he could, and left his family almost destitute.

BE JUST.

We have watched closely during th

recent Chinese agitation for some expres sion of condemnation on the part of the Eastern press of the frauds perpetrated by the Chinese in evasion of the Restriction Act. It does not argue well for the sens of justice of that influence, that it is so ready to condemn the people who foster the agitation against the Chinese, and have not a word to say in rebuke of the Monge lians who consider any and all mean pardonable to defeat an express statute of the country. Thus, it is well known to them that in the United States Courts at San Francisco the Chinese seeking admis sion have committed perjury with perfect monchalance. Only this week one rascal attempted to fit himself to a certificate of entry fraudulently obtained by painting his face to correspond with personal marks described in a certificate. Scores of them out on bail pending the hearing of their habeas corpus cases, post themselves with regard to geographical localities, and then go upon the stand and testify to their knowledge of the country as if it had been obtained during a prior residence. They bribe boatmen, and steal in from British Columbia by regiments. They forge entry certificates, they collude with Customs officials to procure fraudulent certificates and to secure entry into the country b surreptitious means. They falsely personate; they testify to whatever is needed to gain their ends; they cow witnesse and do not hesitate to threaten with death those who appear against them. Now all these facts have been established in open Court by competent testimony; they are widely and well-known to the people of California. And yet in the face of this verity, we look in vain to our Eastern exchanges, that may be classed as pro-Chinese, for a single reference to it The "little brown man" is constantly held up by them to the view of Eastern readers as a dove in harmlessness. How can we expect the people at the East to entertain any other opinion than that generally prevalent, and which estimates our opposition to Chinese immigration as persecution, so long as the true character

THE Current refers to an article in the Overland Monthly eulogizing Senator Stanford for his unparalleled gift to the caus of education, and quotes as follows: "How rare and remarkable an outcome of a man's life it is that after great success in industrial achievements, in money-getting, in politics, it should now become possible to him to be by proxy man of science or o letters; for his endowment will inevitably create more than one such man, who would never have been such without it.' The Current then adds: "This is the modern doctrine of transmigration, and a sermon of great interest to other American millionaires might be preached upon it. We may also see in these noble gifts by the rich men of California the same spirit of generosity out of which the poets and romancers, who have found themes in mining life of the golden coast, have formed some of their happiest songs and

THE Oakland Express is rather rough in the language it chooses to designate the Simon-pure spoilsman. But there is vigor and a good deal of truth in the following words from that paper

Some people look upon government as a game of grab, and their party only as an organization for the purpose of securing public offices. These are mostly men of the baser sort, who prefer to make money dishonestly. If they were not politicians they would be gamblers or thieves or bunko-steerers. Some of them combine such occupations with the pursuit of public office.

THE San Jose Mercury warmly con THE San Jose Mercury warmly commends the Sacramento anti-Chinese plans. It declares that the resolutions of the citizens' meeting must commend themselves to every citizen of the State. The Sacramento plan, no matter whatever the subject, is generally right. He always said that so good a remedy ought to be prescribed freely by every physician as a sovereign remedy in all cases of lung diseases. #### LOCAL INTELLIGENCE

A CHINAMAN'S ADVICE.—The Chinese residents of this city manifest great uneasiness, and seem to be well informed as to the extent of the present agitation. It is difficult to obtain an interview upon the subject with those who speak and understand the English language. They refuse to give to give an opinion as to the probable outcome of the anti-Chinese movement, but say rather than have scenes such as occurred in Wyoming and Washington Territory re-enacted here, they will emigrate. They are prepared to resist mob violence, but say that in the event of a war of the but say that in the event of a war of the races they know they must go to the wall. Just what they are to do, or can do, is the question now puzzling the brains of their wise men. To leave Sacramento means to locate in some neighboring town, where the feeling against them is just as strong as it is here. One Chinaman said he regarded San Francisco; that city was already crowded, and their labor field there was be-said, the "Melican man was heap belly good, and heap likee Chinaman." His conclossal Japanese umbrella, and decorate clusions are eminently correct.

Coincides.—The Woodland Democrat of charge of the girls of the Sunday-school, was also very attractive. Its tables were the 14th inst., says: "The Knights of Labor and citizens of Sacramento do themselves great credit when they resolve to discountenance all acts of violence which endanger human life or the rights of property. Such action shows that reason prevails in their councils and that passion is under due subjection. It requests the support of the rights of ground their councils and that passion is under due subjection. It requests the subjection of the rights of elegant and useful articles, such as gossamer comforters, the handiwork of the Chinese cheap labor problem is to meet a worthy foeman—one armed with justice and supported by the people throughout the country. Violence will never establish the revolution sought, because it estranges ber presided in a very handsomely arranged ber presided in a very handsomely arranged that element of society upon which alone reformations mainly depend. Labor must unite with the business interests of the country if it expects to win. When manufacturers cease to employ Chinese to the exclusion of white labor, and the consumer seeks goods made by white labor, then the problem will be solved. To this end the labor, then the labor, then the labor, then the labor and Miss Jennie Anderson, Miss Jennie Mason. Their people of Sacramento will labor.'
